Description: The newest American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG) approved subspecialty is Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery. In the Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology and Reproductive Sciences at Yale University School of Medicine, the Section of Urogynecology and Reconstructive Pelvic Surgery serves as a referral center for women from the greater Connecticut region with pelvic floor disorders. Our three-year fellowship program is designed to provide exceptional training to ensure that the fellow acquires the clinical skills needed to provide comprehensive management to women with a broad range of pelvic floor disorders, including pelvic organ prolapse, detrusor overactivity, urinary incontinence, anal incontinence, simple and complex fistulas, painful bladder syndromes and recurrent cystitis.

Program Director: Marsha K. Guess, MD, MS
